New PropertyGuys.com Franchisees Take Root in Cowichan Valley

... Christine and Grant McCubbin new franchisees

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE: December 05, 2011

Having lived in the area since 2002, the McCubbins have extended their roots in the Cowichan Valley by purchasing the PropertyGuys.com franchise. Ken LeBlanc, president of PropertyGuys.com Inc., is pleased to announce that, like a formidable Garry Oak tree, Christine and Grant McCubbin are planning on building a strong local business and staying put.

"Christine and Grant are business professionals who have personally moved many times and they can use that real life experience in the franchise," said LeBlanc. "Providing customers in the Valley with our proven private sale program that puts them in control and helps them save money is a great fit for this people friendly couple".

"Now that our two kids are in university, I have the time to devote to building my own business," says Christine. "I have always been interested in real estate, and I believe the PropertyGuys.com business model is the right program for today's savvy sellers".

Ms. McCubbin has a background in education and both government and NGO management and has lived and worked throughout B.C. and Alberta. She is still very active in the Girl Guides and the couple has also hosted dozens of international exchange students over the years. "We have sold homes privately and through agents and we know first-hand that private sale is where this market is headed. We couldn't be more excited about the potential of building a solid customer base of PropertyGuys.com sellers here," added Grant.
