Pottery Painting Studio opens in North Burlington to encourage creativity and hands-on fun.

November 1, 2011 – Crock A Doodle Paint Your Own Pottery franchise welcomes newest studio owner, Angela Barbisan, to the Crock A Doodle team!

Crock A Doodle is special place to gather with family and friends to enjoy some creative together--time. People of all ages and abilities can come in to paint and play, transforming ready-to-paint pottery pieces into amazing works-of-art. Painted pieces are glazed & kiln-fired to a brilliant and durable finish. Its “fun art” not fine art. Anyone can do it and everyone should!

What: Official Opening of Burlington Crock A Doodle Studio
Where: Crock A Doodle Studio, Walkers Line @ Dundas (Longos Plaza)

Background:

Crock A Doodle is Canada's own pottery painting franchise. We bring people together to create, laugh, share and grow... transforming ready-to-paint pottery pieces into their own colourful creations. Our bright and cheerful pottery painting studio welcomes people of all kinds. The on-site party room is a big hit for birthdays and special events, plus we offer a calendar of classes, workshops and seasonal events to keep people coming back again and again. For women, Crock A Doodle offers pottery-painting workshops and classes, as well as creative activities for girls' nights, bridal showers and special occasions. For children, we offer birthday parties, seasonal events, camps and classes, as well as creative programming for schools, teams and clubs. The opportunity extends throughout the community to corporate team builders, fundraisers and recreational programs for groups of every kind.
