PropertyGuys.com Franchise Partners ready to Storm The Beach

... Shrigley and Garcia start new franchise in Beaches

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE: November 23, 2011

Soon the distinctive round signs that denote a community eager to keep more of their home equity in their pocket will be sprouting near the end of Queen Street East. Ken LeBlanc, president of PropertyGuys.com Inc., announced today that Paul Shrigley and Sonia Garcia are set to bring the PropertyGuys.com program to home sellers in The Beach who want to save thousands of dollars in commissions.

"Building our presence in the GTA has been a priority for PropertyGuys.com and we are excited to have the Shrigley and Garcia team on board," said LeBlanc. "It's a dynamic market and we thrive on adapting to change. Innovative services, such as offering broker-based programs through our real estate broker partnership, make our brand unique and can help new franchisees gain market share quickly".

LeBlanc is pleased to have another franchisee in place in the Greater Toronto Area. "Several new franchisees were added this year and filling a gap in The Beach will be good for the whole market. We now have franchisees in most of the Golden Horseshoe, but there are still a few franchise opportunities available in GTA. For those who were thinking about getting on board and riding this tidal wave of change with us, it would be a good idea to initiate the process right away."

Shrigley has entrepreneurial experience in the renewable energy industry. "I have experience in the residential market because of my energy assessment experience," states Shrigley. Garcia professional experience is in the aviation insurance industry. She adds, "We are looking forward to working with home sellers and building our own business." Both of the partners got degrees from Durham College before starting their careers. The partners are currently in training with several other new franchise owners at PropertyGuys.com University (PGU), a week long program at the company's head office in Moncton, New Brunswick.
